CFC outline:

Christian Family Care is a Bedfordshire based registered charity. The earliest and most recognised project is Bedford Women's Refuge that provides emergency accommodation for women and their children, who have been victims of domestic violence. Christian Family Care also manages Charis Mother and Baby Care, Manor Farm Family Centre and Children's Centres in Bedford and Sandy.

Christian Family Care is a Christian based organisation that can trace its roots back over a century to the reforming social care movement of the 19th century, but today it provides a wide range of front line services in partnership with the local authority to protect and support some of the most vulnerable people in the community. It serves the whole community and makes no distinction between ethnicity, religion, culture, gender, sexuality or disability.

CME outline:

Forty years of work was seriously disrupted in 2002 when the Christian Medical Centre, (CME), in Nyankunde was caught up in a long running war, (which has claimed 4.5 million lives), and was attacked. Following dispersion to Beni and Bunia, CME is now seeking to rebuild its operations. The needs are vast, the resources are few, yet comparatively little can have a significant impact on the lives of many.

Established in June 2004, the UK based charity, Friends of CME Trust, seeks to relieve sickness and poverty through its support of CME in its medical and educational work. Funds are provided primarily to subsidise patient operations, essential medicines and hospital beds for the most needy; to educate 6,000 children; and to build a new operating theatre and intensive care unit.
